

TOWER INDUSTRIES LLC

Welcome to Tower Industries, Inc.

Tower Industries is the premier provider of creative surfacing solutions, combining the in-depth capability of state-of-the-art manufacturing with the creativity of a custom shop.

Founded in 1995 by father and son team Bob and Todd Werstler, Tower Industries began as a manufacturer of Meridian Solid Surface products. Since that time, our business has evolved into the premium surfacing manufacturer that we are today, comfortably housed in our 60,000 square foot manufacturing facility on the outskirts of Massillon, Ohio. Along the way, we have become the premier provider of standard and custom solid surface shower components, custom solid surface conference tables, natural quartz and granite countertops, solid surface sinks and lavatory bowls, and a variety of other premium surfacing products to a network of dealers and distributors that span the nation.

We are a one-stop resource, offering innovative solutions and dependable delivery for a variety of residential, commercial, institutional, and higher education clients.

Simply put,

1. we do what we say we are going to do,
2. when we say that we're going to do it,
3. for the price we say we're doing it for.

Poor grammar aside, these three statements are both our core principles and our abiding philosophy.

Unsurpassed Flexibility

Whether you are working on a single job or a large-scale project, we offer unsurpassed, total flexibility. Our expertise with custom product designs and made-to-order customized solutions opens up a world of possibilities for your projects.

Our team is dedicated to the development of innovative business solutions, including specialized products, processes, and distribution systems. If you are in need of large quantities of a custom surfacing component, we can design the product, the process, and the distribution for you. We are committed to being a dependable, long-term partner by delivering turn-key solutions that allow you to focus on the other priorities of your business.

Exceeding Expectations

We are dedicated to exceeding customer expectations and delivering absolute, on-time performance. We work regularly with architects, designers, builders, and developers, speaking your language and understanding the difficulties you face every day. Our commercial and customer service departments are staffed with seasoned professionals, many of whom have likely been in your position before during their careers. As a result, we understand your challenges and can draw on our extensive surfacing experience to help you solve them.

In addition, we are committed to direct dialogue at every stage of your project, to supplying quick answers to your specification and technical questions, and to streamlining product selection, fabrication, and order processing.

Need someone to review the installation of your Meridian Solid Surface shower components with the installer? We're on it.

Have a technical question regarding the proper application of our products?
